DLSAU-ECCRI Hosts 2nd ASEAN Science Diplomats Assembly

April 23 to April 27, 2018

The De La Salle Araneta University Environmental and Climate Change Research Institute will be hosting the 2nd ASEAN Science Diplomats Assembly on April 23 –27 at the Ritz Hotel, Davao City. The assembly is co-organized by the Mindanao Development Authority and the Harvard Kennedy School Alumni Association of the Philippines in collaboration with the ASEAN Secretariat, ASEAN Foundation, Department of Science and Technology, Department of Agriculture, and BIMPT-EAGA (or the East ASEAN Growth Area).

The assembly, with the theme Empowering Science and Technology Leaders for Climate Smart ASEAN, will feature 19 2018 Outstanding ASEAN Science Diplomats from the Philippines, Cambodia, Indonesia, Malaysia, Laos, Thailand, and Vietnam who will facilitate synthesis sessions of workshops by different experts in the fields of communications, public policy, and mass media.

On its second year, the ASEAN Science Diplomats Assembly aims to convene experts of ASEAN member nations in order to identify common problems and challenges in communicating science and technology, build participants' communication skills and confidence in engaging public audiences, train participants about best practices and effective communication mechanisms, capacitate participants on how to develop grant proposals, and develop proposals that will address the risks and impacts of climate change in the ASEAN region.

40th Catholic Mass Media Awards Call for Entries

Until May 11, 2018

All students are encouraged to submit entries in the Student CMMA category of the upcoming 40th Catholic Mass Media Awards (CMMA). Students who wish to join may get a copy of the registration form from the Lasallian Mission and Formation Office. Submission of entries will only be until May 11.

Students may submit media works in the following categories: advertising, music, and radio. An entry fee of P 3 000 is required for advertising and music entries, whereas an entry fee of P2 000 is required for radio entries.

CMMA will be judging the submitted media works on the following criteria:

Love for God

- Media works show honor and respect to Almighty God and His law and order.
- Media works provide spiritual and wholistic enrichments which are integral to the development of the human person.

Love for Truth

- Media works reflect the highest standards of truthfulness and objectivity with sensitivity to human rights.
- Media works expose abuse of trust and corruption of public officials as well as instances of incompetence, public-spiritedness and devotion to duty.
- Media works reflect responsible freedom of expression.

Respect for the natural environment

- Media promote availability of goods and services that contribute to the country's economic growth.
- Media promote integrity of creation.
- Media works are governed by principles of solidarity, justice, equity and accountability in the use of public resources and performance of the roles of public trust.

Promotion of Positive Filipino Values

- Media works portray a healthy nationalism.
- Media works promote values of pagkakaisa, pagsasarili, pakikipagkapwa-tao, pagkabayani and pagiging makabuhay and promote and safeguard Filipino identity.
- Media uphold positive Filipino values (maka-Diyos, maka-tao and maka-bayan).

Love for Family and Life

- Media works promote the dignity of life, sanctity of the family and the dignity of the human person.
- Media works have a healthy outlook on sexuality, marriage and concern for children.
- Media works give voice to the voiceless, promote common good and provide access and participation to people, especially the poor.

Student CMMA has been given out since 2001 in order to mold and uplift the hearts and minds of the youth who will eventually take an active role in the field of social communications.
