In the late 1950's THE FURROWS was the name of the official student publication of the Araneta Institute of Agriculture (AIA). This institution was first known as AIA when it started as an agricultural school in 1946.

The concept of THE FURROWS was adopted once more in 2002 when Gregorio Araneta University Foundation (GAUF) became a full-fledged member of the Lasallian Family; and henceforth, 'twas called the DE LA SALLE-ARANETA UNIVERSITY. Since the turnover up to school year 2005-2006, it became the official institutional newsletter.

Today, De La Salle Araneta University, now enriched with the heritage of Lasallian schools and a partnership with a 334-year old educational tradition that has its roots in Rheims, France, has recreated and revived THE FURROWS, as it informs its collaborators and stakeholders through its regular publication and dissemination.

LASALLIANS FOR LUMADS

In May of this year, news broke out over a spate of arrests, attacks, and harassments against the Lumads, one of the several indigenous groups in Mindanao. Various sectors and organizations joined in the call for investigations regarding these crimes, with many expressing their support and echoing the Lumads' call for justice.

One of these support efforts is the Manilakbayan ng Mindanao 2015, a campaign that aims to bring the voices of indigenous peoples, Moro, peasant communities, and other sectors to the national capital.

Through the Manilakbayan initiative, the Lumads were brought to Metro Manila from October 19 – November 20, so they can share their stories and experiences to students, NGOs, and other welfare groups.

The Lasallian Mission Office (LMO), through its end goal of promoting faith formation and community engagement, participated in the campaign by conducting a feeding program, interacting with the Lumads, and learning about their rich culture and history.

The LMO visited the Kampuhan at the University of the Philippines campus in Diliman, Quezon City where the Lumads were camped, on October 30.

In an event that was coordinated with the LMO, the Society and Lady Society for the Advancement of Veterinary Education and Research (SAVER and Lady SAVER), TINIG, and the University Student Council hosted the Lasallians for Lumads, a prayer and candle-lighting event, that was held on November 10 at the Golden Pavilion.
